Building pathways for empowering secondary school students to become agents of change for environmental and climate action

THE PROJECT

The PATHWAYS Erasmus+ project addresses the growing need for support, expertise, and training for educators to integrate environmental sustainability into their teaching. It aims to provide secondary school teachers and leaders with continuous professional development opportunities focused on environmental sustainability.

OUR LATEST NEWS

PATHWAYS E-learning Course is Now Live!

We're excited to announce the launch of our PATHWAYS E-learning Course. This comprehensive program provides methods to integrate Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and the Whole-School Approach into your classroom.

The course also includes a unique series of mini virtual escape rooms, designed to engage students as they take on the role of sustainability ambassadors. Each game encourages critical thinking and promotes sustainability, with challenges becoming progressively more difficult as students advance.

The course is free and available in English, French, Greek, and Turkish.

OUR CURRENT ACTIVITIES

We are currently developing a Handbook designed to offer practical guidance for teachers, school leaders, and students in planning and implementing initiatives focused on environmental sustainability.

WHAT'S NEXT?

We will soon host National Online Workshops in France, Türkiye, and Greece. These sessions will introduce the Pathway's Handbook, providing tools and ideas on how to efficiently integrate Education for Sustainable Development into schools.

Following the workshops, with the support of the Handbook and the correspondent NGO, participating schools will carry out hands-on environmental projects, such as waste collection and tree planting. After completing these projects, schools will share their experiences and contribute valuable tips to a collective best practices guide.
